GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

For definitions of terms used throughout these instructions, see the definitions section later in this form.

PURPOSE OF THIS FORM

This form is used by non-U.S. entities to document their status for purposes of chapter three (withholding of tax on non-resident aliens and foreign corporations, sections 1441 to 1464) and chapter four (taxes to enforce reporting on certain foreign accounts, sections 1471 to 1474) of the IRC, as well as for certain other code provisions. None of the information in this form should be construed as tax or legal advice. If you have any questions about the contents of the form or what particular information to input, consult an accountant or a lawyer. Non-U.S. persons are subject to U.S. tax at a 30% rate (the foreign-person withholding rate) on income they receive from U.S. sources that consists of any of the following:

- Interest (including certain original issue discount (OID))
- Dividends
- Rents
- Royalties
- Premiums
- Annuities
- Compensation for or in expectation of, services performed
- Substitute payments in a securities lending transaction
- Other fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, or income

Please note that the above is subject to change by US Regulatory authorities and specific tax advice should be sought from a professional. This tax applies to the gross amount paid and is generally collected by withholding under section 1441 or 1442 of the IRC on that amount. A payment is considered to have been made whether it is made directly to the beneficial owner or to another person (intermediary, agent, or partnership) for the benefit of the beneficial owner.

A withholding agent or payer of income may rely on a properly completed entity treaty statement form to apply a reduced rate of, or exemption from, withholding. You must provide this form to do the following:

- Claim that you are the beneficial owner or a partner in a partnership for income applicable to the entity treaty statement form subject to section 1446 of the IRC
- If applicable, claim a reduced rate of, or exemption from, withholding as a resident of a foreign country that the U.S. has an income tax treaty with and that is eligible for treaty benefits

Note: send the entity treaty statement form to Questrade before you receive any income. If you do not send this form as requested, your income may be withheld at a 30% rate (foreign-person withholding rate) or the backup withholding rate. If you own the income with one or more other persons, the income will be treated by the withholding agent as owned by a foreign person that is a beneficial owner of a payment only if an entity treaty statement is provided by the owners. An account will be treated as a U.S. account for chapter four purposes by an FFI requesting this form if any of the account holders is a specified U.S. person or a U.S.-owned foreign entity (unless the account is otherwise accepted from U.S. account status for chapter four purposes).

Change in circumstances: if there are any changes to the information you provided in the entity treaty statement form, send us the updated info within 30 days of the changes.

DEFINITIONS

Amounts subject to withholding under chapter three: an amount from sources within the United States that is fixed or determinable annual or periodical (FDAP) income. FDAP income is all income included in gross income, including interest (as well as OID), dividends, rents, royalties, and compensation. See regulations section 1.1441-2 for all exclusions.

Beneficial owner: The person who is required under U.S. tax principles to include the payment in gross income on a tax return for payments other than those for which a reduced rate of, or exemption from, withholding is claimed. A person is not a beneficial owner of income, however, to the extent that person is receiving the income as a nominee, agent, or custodian, or to the extent that the person's participation in a transaction is disregarded. In the case of amounts paid that do not constitute income, beneficial ownership is determined as if the payment were income.

Chapter 3: sections 1441 through 1464 of the IRC (withholding of tax on nonresident aliens and foreign corporations).

Chapter 4: sections 1471 through 1474 of the IRC (taxes to enforce reporting on certain foreign accounts).

Chapter 4 status: status as a U.S. person, specified U.S. person, foreign individual, participating FFI, deemed-compliant FFI, restricted distributor, exempt beneficial owner, nonparticipating FFI, territory financial institution, excepted NFFE, or passive NFFE. See regulations section 1.1471-1(b) for the definitions of these terms.

Specified U.S. person: any U.S. person other than a person identified in regulations section 1.1473-1(c).

Substantial U.S. owner: any specified U.S. person who:

- Owns, directly or indirectly, more than 10% (by vote or value) of the stock of any foreign corporation
- Owns, directly or indirectly, more than 10% of the profits or capital interests in a foreign partnership
- Is treated as an owner of any portion of a foreign trust under sections 671 through 679
- Holds, directly or indirectly, more than a 10% beneficial interest in a trust

U.S. person: defined in section 7701(a)(30) and including domestic partnerships, corporations, and trusts.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS

Identification of beneficial owner

Line 1: entity's name.

Line 2: country of residence.

- For a corporation, the country of incorporation
- For other entities, the country under whose laws you are created, organized, or governed

Line 3: permanent address of the entity identified in line one.

Permanent address in the country where you claim to be a resident for purposes of that country's income tax. If you are giving an entity treaty statement to claim a reduced rate of, or exemption from, withholding under an income tax treaty, you must determine residency in the manner required by the treaty. If you do not have a tax residence in any country, use the address where you maintain your principal residence.

Line 4: mailing address (should it differ from the address shown on line three).

Line 5: U.S. taxpayer identification number (TIN), if required

If you do not have a U.S. TIN, apply for one on form SS-4, application for employer identification number, if you are required to obtain a U.S. TIN.

A TIN is required if you are:

- Claiming an exemption from withholding under section 871(f) for certain annuities received under qualified plans
- Claiming benefits under an income tax treaty and have not provided a foreign TIN on line 5a

A TIN is not required in order to claim treaty benefits on:

- Dividends and interest from actively traded stocks and debt obligations
- Dividends from any redeemable security issued by an investment company registered under the investment company act of 1940

Entity Treaty Statement

5 of 8

- Dividends, interest, or royalties from units of beneficial interest in a unit investment trust that are (or were) publicly offered and are registered with the SEC
- Income related to loans of any of the above securities

Line 5a: for the purposes of this form, you may use your BIN as a TIN.

If you are providing this form to document yourself with respect to a financial account that you hold at a U.S. office of a financial institution, you must provide the TIN issued to you by the jurisdiction in which you are a tax resident unless:

- You have not been issued a TIN
- The jurisdiction does not issue TINs

Line 6: check the box that represents your classification under U.S. tax principles. You may not use this form if you are partnership, simple trust, or grantor trust (see form W-8IMY).

Note: if you are documenting your foreign status (or making a claim of treaty benefits for reduced withholding) use form W-8BEN. In general, if you are a foreign entity receiving a withholdable payment, you should provide this form when requested to avoid withholding consequences.

PART III – CLAIM OF TAX TREATY BENEFITS

Line 7a: country of residency if you are claiming a reduced rate of, or exemption from, withholding under an income tax treaty. Check the box to confirm that the entity stated in line one is in fact a resident of the stated country.

Line 7b: an entity that is claiming a reduced rate of, or exemption from, withholding under an income tax treaty must check the box to certify that it:

- Derives the item of income for which the treaty benefit is claimed, and
- Meets the limitation on benefits provisions contained in the treaty, if any.

An item of income may be derived by either the entity receiving the item of income or by the interest holders in the entity or, in certain circumstances, both. An item of income paid to an entity is considered to be derived by the entity only if the entity is not fiscally transparent under the laws of the entity's jurisdiction with respect to the item of income. An item of income paid to an entity shall be considered to be derived by the interest holder in the entity only if:

- The interest holder is not fiscally transparent in its jurisdiction with respect to the item of income, and
- The entity is considered to be fiscally transparent under the laws of the interest holder's jurisdiction with respect to the item of income. An item of income paid directly to a type of entity specifically identified in a treaty as a resident of a treaty jurisdiction is treated as derived by a resident of that treaty jurisdiction.

Limitation on benefits treaty provisions. If you are a resident of a foreign country that has entered into an income tax treaty with the United States that contains a limitation on benefits (LOB) article, you must complete one of the checkboxes in line 7b. You may only check a box if the limitation on benefits article in that treaty includes a provision that corresponds to the checkbox on which you are relying to claim treaty benefits. A particular treaty might not include every type of test for which a checkbox is provided. For example, "Company that meets the derivative benefits test" is generally not available to a company resident in a treaty country that is not a member of the EU, EEA, or NAFTA. In addition, each treaty LOB article that contains a specific test listed below may have particular requirements that must be met that differ from the requirements in another treaty with regard to the same test. Accordingly, you must check the relevant treaty LOB article for the particular requirements associated with each test. In general, only one LOB checkbox is required to claim a treaty exemption, even if more than one checkbox would suffice to claim the benefits of the treaty for that item of income.

Each of the tests is summarized below for the general convenience of taxpayers but may not be relied upon for making a final determination that you meet an LOB test. Rather you must check the text of the LOB article itself to determine which tests are available under that treaty and the particular requirements of those tests. See Table 4, Limitation on Benefits, at www.irs.gov/Individuals/International-Taxpayers/Tax-Treaty-Tables, for a summary of the major tests within the Limitation on Benefits article that are relevant for documenting any entity's claim for treaty benefits. See www.irs.gov/Businesses/International-Businesses/United-StatesIncome-Tax-Treaties--A-to-Z for a current list of treaties in force.

- Government—this test is met if the entity is the Contracting State, political subdivision, or local authority.
- Tax-exempt pension trust or pension fund—this test generally requires that more than half the beneficiaries or participants in the trust or fund be residents of the country of residence of the trust or fund itself.
- Other tax-exempt organization—this test generally requires that more than half the beneficiaries, members, or participants of religious, charitable, scientific, artistic, cultural, or educational organizations be residents of the country of residence of the organization.
- Publicly-traded corporation—this test generally requires the corporation's principal class of shares to be primarily and regularly traded on a recognized stock exchange in its country of residence, while other treaties may permit trading in either the U.S. or the treaty country, or in certain third countries if the primary place of management is the country of residence.

- Subsidiary of publicly-traded corporation—this test generally requires that more than 50% of the vote and value of the company's shares be owned, directly or indirectly, by five or fewer companies that are publicly-traded corporations and that themselves meet the publicly-traded corporation test, as long as all companies in the chain of ownership are resident in either the U.S. or the same country of residence as the subsidiary.
- Company that meets the ownership and base erosion test—this test generally requires that more than 50% of the vote and value of the company's shares be owned, directly or indirectly, by individuals, governments, tax-exempt entities, and publicly-traded corporations resident in the same country as the company, as long as all companies in the chain of ownership are resident in the same country of residence, and less than 50% of the company's gross income is accrued or paid, directly or indirectly, to persons who would not be good shareholders for purposes of the ownership test.
- Company that meets the derivative benefits test—this test is generally limited to NAFTA, EU, and EEA country treaties, and may apply to all benefits or only to certain items of income (interest, dividends, and royalties). It generally requires that more than 95% of the aggregate vote and value of the company's shares be owned, directly or indirectly, by seven or fewer equivalent beneficiaries (ultimate owners who are resident in an EU,
- EEA, or NAFTA country and are entitled to identical benefits under their own treaty with the U.S. under one of the ownership tests included within the LOB article (other than the stock ownership and base erosion test)). In addition, this test requires that less than 50% of the company's gross income be paid or accrued, directly or indirectly, to persons who would not be equivalent beneficiaries.
- Company with an item of income that meets the active trade or business test—this test generally requires that the company be engaged in an active trade or business in its country of residence, that its activities in that country be substantial in relation to its U.S. activities, if the payer is a related party, and the income be derived in connection to or incidental to that trade or business.
- Favorable discretionary determination received—this test requires that the company obtain a favorable determination granting benefits from the U.S. competent authority that, despite the company's failure to meet a specific objective LOB test in the applicable treaty, it may nonetheless claim the requested benefits. Note: Unless a treaty or technical explanation specifically provides otherwise, you may not claim discretionary benefits while your claim for discretionary benefits is pending.
- Other—for other LOB tests that are not listed above (e.g., a headquarters test). Identify the other test relied upon, or enter N/A if the treaty has no LOB article. For example, if you meet the headquarters test under the U.S.-Netherlands income tax treaty, you should write "Headquarters test, Article 26(5)" in the space provided.

If an entity is claiming treaty benefits on its own behalf, it should complete Form W-8BEN-E. If an interest holder in an entity that is considered fiscally transparent in the interest holder's jurisdiction is claiming a treaty benefit, the interest holder should complete Form W-8BEN (if an individual) or Form W-8BEN-E (if an entity) on its own behalf as the appropriate treaty resident, and the fiscally transparent entity should associate the interest holder's Form W-8BEN or Form W-8BEN-E with a Form W-8IMY completed by the fiscally transparent entity (see Hybrid entities under Special Instructions, later).

Note: An income tax treaty may not apply to reduce the amount of any tax on an item of income received by an entity that is treated as a domestic corporation for U.S. tax purposes. Therefore, neither the domestic corporation nor its shareholders are entitled to the benefits of a reduction of U.S. income tax on an item of income received from U.S. sources by the corporation.

TIP: If you are an entity that derives the income as a resident of a treaty country, you may check this box if the applicable income tax treaty does not contain a "limitation on benefits" provision.

Line 7c: if you are a foreign corporation claiming treaty benefits under an income tax treaty enforced before January 1st, 1987 (and that has not since been renegotiated) on either U.S.-sourced dividends paid to you by another foreign corporation, or on U.S. source interest paid to you by a U.S. trade or business of another foreign corporation, you are generally a qualified resident of a treaty country. See section 884 for clarification and applicable rules.

A foreign corporation may be a qualified resident of a country if any of the following apply:

- It meets a 50% ownership and base erosion test
- It is primarily and regularly traded on an established securities market in its country of residence or the United States
- It carries on an active trade or business in its country of residence
- IRS rules that it is a qualified resident

(See regulations section 1.884-5 for the test requirements)

Note: if you are claiming treaty benefits under an income tax treaty enforced after December 31st, 1986, check box 7b instead of box 7c.

Line 8: complete only if you are claiming treaty benefits that require that you meet conditions not covered in line seven or if you fit one of these examples:

- Exempt organizations claiming treaty benefits under treaties with Canada, Mexico, Germany, and the Netherlands

- Foreign corporations that are claiming a preferential rate applicable to dividends based on ownership of a specific percentage of stock in the entity paying the dividend
- Persons claiming treaty benefits on royalties if the treaty contains different withholding rates for different types of royalties
- Persons claiming treaty benefits under an “other income” treaty article

Line 9: check the one box that represents your classification under U.S. tax principles.

NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION

Line 10: check the box to confirm that you are a non-profit organization and meet the requirements of this status.

ACTIVE NON-FINANCIAL ENTITY

Line 11: check this box to confirm that you are an active NFFE and meet all of the requirements for this status, including the assets and passive income test. For purposes of applying this test, passive income includes dividends, interest, rents, royalties, annuities, and certain other forms of passive income. See Regulations section 1.1472-1(c)(1)(iv)(A) and 1.1472-1(c)(1)(iv)(B) for exceptions.

PASSIVE NON-FINANCIAL ENTITY

Line 12a: check this box to confirm that you are a passive NFFE who is not a financial institution and who is not certifying your status as a publicly traded NFFE, NFFE affiliate of a publicly traded company, accepted territory NFFE, active NFFE, direct reporting NFFE, or sponsored direct reporting NFFE.

If you are an NFFE that may qualify as an active NFFE (or other NFFE described in another part of this form), you may still check line 40a and disclose your substantial U.S. owners or certify that you have no substantial U.S. owners (see instructions to lines 40b and 40c below).

Line 12b: check this box to confirm that you have no substantial U.S. owners.

Line 12c: check this box if you do not check the box or make the certification on line 40b. Identify each of your substantial U.S. owners by their name, address, and TIN in the box below.
